Howdy y'all,

We are at third weekend down here. Great big crowd yesterday, numbers were around 21 attendance. Long food lines. Packed jous shows.

Courtney was there yesterday and probab will be there part of today. All security and management had photos of her to observ her throughout the day. She stayed far aw from us, Randal, and Amy. That was good hopshe does the same today.

That brings us to Amy. First weekend Amy, wearing a fairy costume, went down with the heat 1 hr after gate. She stayed in the green room asleep on the couch most of the day and when I had to go to the green room, because my allergies had turned my nose into a fountain, she apologized for being sick. I was there a half hour and at that point she began to throw up. Some 6 hrs after she went down with the heat. She had gotten out of costume when she first got to the green room. This weekend Amy was off the street 1 hr after gate, briefly reappeared around 2PM but spent the rest of the day sleeping in the green room because she was tired. I can't
